Learning Conversations

We are launching “Learning Conversations” in school which are opportunities for children to talk to me about their learning. This is a valuable opportunity for me to hear from the people at the centre of it all! All the names of children in the school have been printed and placed in a box. Each week a child draws out 5 names and those children have the opportunity to speak to me about their learning. Each week it is a different 5 children and each week we will focus on a different subject. The children will receive a certificate after coming to see me.

Today Poppy in Kestrels picked out the names and on Monday I will be talking to the following children about their English learning:

Wrens: Deanna Rowe

Robins: Lincoln Carr

Swifts: Sophie Biancardi

Kestrels: Nathan Goddard

Owls: Muhammad Patel
